AUTO THIEF SUSPECT NOT THE RIGHT MAN

Monticello Man Arrested by Beloit Police Brought Here.—Jarvis Causes His Release.

Chief of Police Peter D. Champion went to Beloit yesterday afternoon in response to a telephone call from the Line City department, informing him of a stolen automobile. The description of the thief who attempted to steal the automobile of John Jarvis, was being held there. The suspect was brought here late last night. Mr. Jarvis came to the station. It was not the right man.

The Beloit police's captive gave his name as John Eubank and his residence as 1214 E. Washington. He wore a blue and white Jersey sweater and answered the description perfectly except that his face was thin while that of the thief was plump. Chief of Police D. H. Harnett told the conductor of a south-bound interurban car to be on the watch for the man and gave a description. Eubank boarded the car at St. Paul and answered the description as far as the conductor had received it from the officer. The interurban employee caused the arrest of the man upon arrival at Beloit.

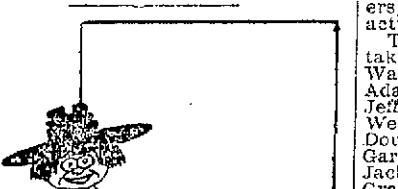

LOST YOUR SHIRT? COPS FIND BUNDLE

John Newman Had Them Secreted in Alleyway With Supply of Groceries He Took From Rig.

If you happened to lose a bundle of newly laundered shirts this morning, you can get them at the police station, describing the property. Fred Shoemaker, a farmer, lost a dollar's worth of groceries after the same manner, but Mr. Shoemaker got his goods.

Because John Newman, an employee of the Consumers' company was too intoxicated to tell where he got shirts, he is being held at the station today. Norman took Shoemaker's groceries from the latter's rig on South River street and secreted them in an alleyway. Newman, who was arrested with the shirt and informed Shoemaker, who called on officer Newman was found lounging on River street and after being charged with the act, led the officer to where they had been hidden. Along with the groceries was another bundle which, when opened at the police station, contained three pairs of boiled shirts and a suit of underwear.

LIBRARY SECURES NEW "GOOD" BOOKS

Recently Acquired Volumes Cover Wide Range of Subjects, Many of Present Day Importance.

Among the new books at the public library are two on Mexico, which will throw much light on the present condition of the country and the present political situation.
 "Tramping Through Mexico, Guatemala and Honduras," by Frank, author of "Zone Policeman 88," which many enjoyed reading. While in Mexico the author became a planter, worked in the mines, on the plantations. He shows Mexico from the standpoint of the common people.
 "Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," by Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, gives the other side of the story. The author's husband, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, has held various diplomatic posts, at Copenhagen, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Vienna. He was sent to Mexico in October, 1912, at the time that diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico were broken. The author writes to her mother at this time that the recognition of the rebels is a mistake; and the lifting of the embargo a crime. It meant the admission of arms that some day would be turned against us.
 "Kitchener's Mob," by James N. Hall, is another timely book. The author, an American, caught the contagion of England's London. He gives a graphic picture of the way in which raw recruits were whipped into fighting form, and of their experiences on the march and in the trenches.

HY-Y CLUB HOLDS 1ST MEET THURSDAY

Popular Young Men's Organization at "Y" Ready for Another Season.

The Hy-Y Club of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its first meeting Thursday night. This club is composed of high school boys and is organized for the purpose of Bible study. Each member is asked to bring with him some boy who would be interested in the work of the club and who would be a possible member. Several guests have been invited to attend by the officers of the club.

Last year this club numbered twenty-five members. It is the hope of the officers to increase the enrollment considerably this year. Membership in the Y. M. C. A. is not necessary to join this organization. In connection with this club there will be conducted a leader training class in which the older high school boys will be given a normal course in teaching so that they will be able to take charge of Bible classes and will be able to assist in other forms of leadership in the various Y. M. C. A. departments. This is a comparatively new feature in the boys' department, and the Janesville association hopes to have a leader group that will exceed any other in the state for a city of this size.

Bowling Team to Beloit.
 The Y. M. C. A. bowling team will go to Beloit tonight to roll a match with the Beloit team. This is the first of the new all-boys of that association. The all-boys here are being retrained at present, but will be open next Monday.

FIRE DRILLS EMPTY CITY SCHOOLS FAST

Longest Time Would Be Too Short For a Fire to Gain Any Headway.

Statistics gathered at the various schools showing the length of time taken to completely empty the school during a fire drill reveal a systematic and efficient handling of the pupils that should prove most reassuring to these parents who have worried over the possibility of disaster in case of fire.

Fire drills have been held at all of the schools, and will continue until throughout the month of October. The teachers and school officials have worked out plans by which the schools are emptied in a complete absence of confusion and in the shortest possible time. Even this early in the year when there has been held but one fire drill the figures are so reassuring that the school was emptied in a minute and twenty seconds. This drill took place when the students were on all three floors of the building and when the regular routine of school work was going on. There is no preparation for the drills. The time is selected without the knowledge of the various teachers, thus duplicating conditions of an actual fire as nearly as possible.

The times for the other schools taken in the same way were:
 Washington 1 min.—20 sec.
 Adams 2 min.
 Jefferson 2 min.
 Webster 1 min.
 Douglas 45 sec.
 Jackson 30 sec.
 Grant 1 min.—30 sec.

TO ASK THAT CITY.

CONTINUE THE WORK OF DENTAL CLINIC

Action May Be Taken by Council This Week—Civic League Urges Need of a Dental Nurse.
 According to officers of the Civic League, that organization hopes to continue the city in the work of the dental clinic to such an extent that the commission will take over the matter and conduct it as a part of the work of the board of health.
 Some rather interesting facts have been disclosed in connection with the dental clinic here and in other cities. Where these institutions are maintained. It has been found that over fifty per cent of the school children are afflicted with some form of dental trouble. The seemingly bad character of that decay arises easily. It is the opinion of many dentists and oral surgeons that the care and condition of the first or "baby" teeth determines to a large extent the character of the second teeth. Whether this is true or not, all have agreed that a habit of cleanliness and caution created when the child still has his baby teeth is likely to endure throughout life, and thus save him inestimable discomfort and expense.
 It is said that there are scarcely a quarter of a dozen dentists in the city to handle the work. If this is so, the few here can hardly be expected to give up their time to conduct a clinic. This method was pursued in the past by the city, but the number of dentists gave a half day every so often to the clinic—but the Civic League does not feel that they are justified in asking for such favors. Any number of dentists can be secured to get a dental nurse to conduct the clinic. Dental nurses are graduate dentists who are thoroughly capable of handling the work of a clinic. They benefit the community by having someone who would be ready to work at any time, would also be felt. She could conduct the examination of the school children, and then employ a doctor or of having to call on the city dentists to do this charity work.
 The Civic League has outfitted the dental clinic in the city hall in a very complete manner; there is at present some six hundred dollars worth of equipment there. This, they say, is a very good thing, and the principal administration if it secures a dental nurse or makes other arrangements for the carrying on of this branch of the work of preserving the public health.
 In the opinion of many this is a service which should without any question be conducted by the city as a municipal function. It is claimed that as much as a maintainer of public health as are the other branches of the board of health. Many cities have certainly recognized the importance of this work in improving general health conditions and have established various systems for caring for this matter. The most popular one, especially in smaller cities, is to employ a dental nurse to do the work.
 "It would be easy," said A. S. Kroetz, "for the nurse to make the examinations of the school children. She could do the work over and over again. She could visit each school room at least twice a year and subject each child therein to a rigorous examination. The results would be noted, and the nurse provided for the purpose and filed away for reference. Where the child's teeth were found to be defective the fact would be communicated to the parent and if necessary the importance of immediate care emphasized to these people. The clinic itself would be conducted for those children who have been referred to the dentist."
 The entire matter is to be put before the city commission this week and it is expected that some definite action will be taken.

On the Spur of the Moment
ROY K. MOULTON

When you're in a hurry, you're in a hurry. And your shoulders start a twitching. And across the ballroom floor you glide a feelin' gay and grand. You begin to weave and totter. Like a boat upon the water. And you listen to the music of the ukulele band.

All your being seems to quiver. Like a ripple on a river. And the perspiration oozes from the hollow of your hand. You can love most any girl. As you glide and dip and whirl. If you're dancing to the music of the ukulele band.

Uncle Abner. There ain't nothing in this world that sounds as cheap as a lot of talk. The trouble with the life insurance agents is that they always pounce upon a fellow when he has got forty other things to do.

We can't see what keeps the chawing tobacco factories going. No body will own up that he uses the stuff except ball players and telegraph operators.

There is only one class of people as foolish as the men. Wilson's Mexican policy seems to please everybody excepting the Mexicans. Well, by giner, you can't get no sense of humor.

Miss Amy Stubbs new hair covers her ears so that she can't hear nothing. Elmer Spink proposed to her three times last week.

A Main Street sign says, "Photographs for sale." But we suppose old Roddy McPhee will insist that a jitney is a bus.

We certainly shall, Judd, while Colonel Bailey, in the column right next to yours, picks us up with his statements as, "It seems to us that in Houston we are approaching the point when there will be a fit to every passenger."

Was it Charley Leedy who said: "The plays are giving clothes pins for transients because they are good on every line?" But that's got nothing to do with it. A nickel is a jitney and a nickel is a bus.

A Few Idle Thoughts. The fellow who thinks of work as of leisure, a genius, but we have our moments of contemplative cynicism when we believe that he could have made a lot of folks happier by having some of his time in some other way.

One thing that we have been looking forward to with a great deal of avidity, not to say enthusiasm, is a month with five Saturdays in it. They may be used to put live-pay-day months in the calendar once in a while, but they have gone out of style, apparently.

No Answer. The new current phrase, "Too proud to fight," brings to mind an incident of one of our early days. A Chinese delegate proposed to this query to the assembled dignitaries: "Suppose a nation which received an ultimatum refused to fight. What would be the result?"

After a few moments of dead silence, the chairman called the next question. The Chinaman's query has remained unanswered to this day.

A Young Man With Sense. "Lizzie, will you be mine?" "Don't you love me?" "No, I don't and never did."

"Then you will never marry me?" "Then you will never marry me?" "Then you will never marry me?"

William Chadwick. William Chadwick, October 3. William Chadwick passed away at five o'clock Monday morning. The end was expected as he had not rallied from an attack and had lapsed into unconsciousness on Saturday.

Mr. Chadwick was able to enjoy his seventy-third birthday Wednesday of last week, when many greetings and flowers came from his many friends. For seven years he has been suffering from an incurable heart ailment, and although he had received the treatment of the best specialists, still his condition could not be aided.

Mr. Chadwick was born in Green County seventy-three years ago. He received his early educational training in the rural schools and village schools near Monroe, and later spent one year at the University of Wisconsin. While attending here he answered the president's call for volunteers and enlisted in the Co. K 22nd regiment, with which he served until released the following year on account of physical ailments.

Mr. Chadwick was a zealous Mason and belonged to the Smith Lodge No. 31, R. A. M., Janesville Chapter No. 21, R. A. M., Janesville Commandery, Consistory and Tripoli Temple of Shrine at Milwaukee, and is also a member of the O. P. Finney post, No. 102, G. A. R. of Monroe. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Daisy Chadwick Bolender, and Howard W. Chadwick.

Funeral services will be held from Chadwick residence Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. N. E. McLaughlin of the Universalist church, will conduct the services, and the Masonic order will have charge at the cemetery.

FOREST OF ARGONNE
WHERE WORLD WORST
BATTLE IS WAGING

Associated Press Correspondent Describes Scenes Near Verdun After Trip With French.

Verdun, Oct. 3.—Just west of here, in the forest of Argonne, there is a remarkable military tunnel, 45 feet underground, running right up to within 300 yards of the German trenches. It is one of the most hard pressed points around Verdun, but through this tunnel reinforcements move forward without danger, relieving every two hours the men on the front line.

There was a very American atmosphere about this tunnel when The Associated Press correspondent visited it for the first time. The French and American soldiers in command were American residents, one a stock-raiser in Alberta, Canada, and the other a bank official of the American bank at Los Angeles, Cal. Both were born in France and when the war broke out left their American business to come home and fight. And now they are in full charge of this underground highway, leading up to one of the most desperate positions along the front. They are so American that they speak English instead of French, and the Commandant's headquarters—a little nest in the clay—has a big picture of Uncle Sam hanging on the wall.

Creeping through the tunnel toward the front line, the members of the visiting party knocked their steel casques on the roof, and plunked through water ankle-deep. Paul, a New York lawyer, a man of large build, 6 feet 6 inches tall, was bent double in the struggle through the tunnel. Along the way they passed an electric plan, throbbing with life, and New York's law, a man of large build, 6 feet 6 inches tall, was bent double in the struggle through the tunnel.

Further on, in a large clay hole, a kitchen was in full operation, with soldiers grilling hams and cooking. "Let me introduce you to our chef," said the Commandant, as a young soldier came forward. "He is now the cook for this tunnel—and he is a good cook, for before the war he was chef to the French Ambassador at Rome."

Emerging from the tunnel into the front line French trenches, the German trenches were plainly visible on the crest only 300 yards away. The intervening space was swept clear as though by a cyclone, and the beautiful green of the forest that was left at the other end of the tunnel, here the whole outlook was gray and desolate, the ground jagged and torn by the shells of the enemy.

This has been a rather quiet day—only two mine explosions, said the Commandant—"two men injured, one in the shoulder, the other in the leg. That is little for often we have 40 to 60 men killed or injured in mine explosions, which go on continually as the Germans try to mine under our trenches and we try to mine under theirs."

Even beyond the front line French soldiers had pushed their observation posts into the freewheeling dargins from the German line. Some of these dargins could be seen almost up to the cross where the German line ran. They were crouched behind heaps of boulders, rifles ready.

"Those men are only ten yards from the Germans," said the Commandant. As he spoke, Mr. Cravath of New York said:

"I see a German; there he is on the crest; you can see his uniform. And he sees you, too," said the Commandant. "You have been under the fire," he added as he led Mr. Cravath and the others to a more secure position.

"It's good that German didn't fire," remarked Cravath. "It might have been an international incident. Think of it—killing an American visitor to the French trenches."

Coming back from the front line trenches, one had a view of the many ceaseless activities in carrying on the great battle. At one point soldiers in shirt-sleeves were digging graves in an improvised cemetery along the forest path. The cemetery was very large, and had been given a name: "Maison Forrester," or Forest Home. Every grave had a wooden cross above it, with the name and regiment of the dead soldier.

The shells kept whizzing and bursting as the party moved along, and for some time the party pastime to note the long s-z-z-z as the shells ew overhead. One of them struck a few hundred feet away, throwing up trees, earth and clouds of smoke. To those who wanted souvenirs there were big fragments of shrapnel lying at every turn. It was pleasant to be a pleasant pastime to note the long s-z-z-z as the shells ew overhead. One of them struck a few hundred feet away, throwing up trees, earth and clouds of smoke.

The ingenuity of some of the trench quarters along the way is shown in the use of empty glass bottles for windows. One officer pointed with pride to the very artistic effect he had secured with these empty wine bottles. A triple row of them, all across the front of his log shack, giving light within an dhaving rather a cathedral window effect without. The bottles are of white glass, and the place on the white wry of Bordeaux.

The headquarters of General Neville in charge of the operations at Verdun is a little cross-road malet, which cannot be named for military reasons. The general's office are in the town court-house, a two-story stone structure. It was in this building that General Petain, who preceded Neville, and General Cadieux, who preceded him, were the first on the first onrush of the Germans which held them until reinforcements could be brought up.

General Neville goes to Verdun frequently. But most of his time is at headquarters, in telegraph and telephone with the whole circle of defenses, and in touch too, with the other army corps and masses of supplies ready to be moved forward to fill any gap the Germans may make.

As were at General Neville's headquarters, a party of German prisoners was being marched to Verdun and two, their gray uniforms and round cap contrasting with the French blue and casque. Already they were being sent to work, and one of the German carried a spade over his shoulder. At Verdun there is no civilian life whatever, but around General Neville's headquarters there are through the town and the quick mingling with the police, indicating civilian life still existed thus near to the bombarded town.

The roads back of Verdun present the most varied scenes of activity. On the left is a vast aeroplane camp, with some twenty enormous hangars of basket-steel construction, covered with canvas. Across the road is a riding course running for miles, where officers can exercise their mounts, and cavalry can push forward in emergency without blocking the high road. Every now and then one sees a big vehicle shoot by, bearing the sign "American Ambulance Corps."

The thousands of horses and mules along the road are in good condition. Many of the horses came from America, and were run down by sea voyage, but after a month's feeding they proved very serviceable. On seeing the mules, one of the officers said:

"The demobilization of the Greek army had one very important result for the allies—it released 10,000 mules which the Greeks had been using, and now these mules are proving invaluable to the allies."

While the fields back of Verdun are rich with yellow grain, yet there is one melancholy evidence of the war in the burning of manure, usually the very life-blood of the soil. The grain can be gathered by the soldiers and the women who remain, but there is no time to distribute manure over the land, and so it is burned.

The last glimpse of Verdun came as the party passed a detachment of French soldiers, just out of the trenches and going to the rear for a rest. They were tired and heavily laden, but happy and cheerful as they swung along in irregular ranks, laughing and joking as though they came from some agreeable occupation. They were all fine-looking young fellows, and they typified that calm and invincible spirit which the young French soldiers are putting into their service.

McCONNELL TO LEAD BIG LOCAL CAMPAIGN

PROMINENT EVANGELIST SE-CURED BY FIVE JANESVILLE
CHURCHES TO CONDUCT
REVIVALS.

TO BUILD TABERNACLE

Temporary Structure Which Will Accommodate More Than 3,000 Persons Will Be Built In Central Location.

Arrangements have been made by five Janesville churches, the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Cargill Methodist Episcopal, Richards Memorial United Brethren and First Christian, for a six week evangelistic campaign, which will be conducted by the Lincoln McConnell Evangelistic company, beginning January 14. At a meeting on Monday representatives of the church boards concerned in the proposed revival, Dr.
McConnell's letter of acceptance to the proposition as outlined, was read.
A large temporary tabernacle to be located as near the center of the city as possible, will be built for the meetings. It will have a seating capacity of between 2,000 and 3,000, and will be arranged with care as to acoustic properties. It is probable that a call will be made on men of the churches to give their time and labor to help in the construction of the building, working under the direction of a building contractor's crew.

Dr. McConnell, who will be the principal evangelist and speaker throughout the campaign, will have a corps of able assistants, who are members of his company. They are Prof. Thonnes, musical director; Mrs.
Clayton, pianist; and Mr. and Mrs.
Dibble, assistants.

Dr. McConnell is well known to Janesville audiences. He has been in Janesville for the past several last summer, and has subsequently given addresses in this city. He is a man of rare ability, a powerful speaker, keen thinker, a strong personality. He was formerly minister at Atlanta, Ga., but of late has been devoting his time to the Chautaque platform and has come to Janesville as musical director for the

HOLT, SOLICITED BY MAXFIELD, IS NOW DAD OF BOY

Edgerton School Head Agrees to Take Charge of Youth For Ensuing Six Months—Finds Him Job.

Frank O. Holt, head of the Edgerton school system has consented to take charge of the fourteen year old lad from that city, who would have gone to a state reform school for some time, but for the intervention of Judge H. L. Maxfield of the Janesville municipal court. Judge
Maxfield put the proposition up to Mr.
Holt, stating that he was having more or less of an intimate knowledge of the little boy and the conditions of the case he consented to take charge of the youth. "But the next six months will have direct charge of the boy."

Mr. Holt, who has gained an enviable reputation in Edgerton, since he has been the head of the schools, believes that every boy should be given an opportunity to correct any mistake he has made in early life. Volving practically the case upon as Judge Maxfield, Mr. Holt said "It would have been a serious mistake to send the boy to the reform school. No greater wrong or harm could have been done than to send him to a school where he would be as amenable to discipline as any average boy. He gives no trouble."

Judge Maxfield said this morning that in his opinion no better person in the county could have been secured to take charge of the boy to direct him towards the right and to help the youth build a character and a future.

The boy at the present time is going to school at Edgerton and already has a job secured for him by Mr. Holt.

COUNTY REPUBLICANS HOLD SESSION TODAY

PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN HOLD
MEETING THIS AFTERNOON
AT COURT HOUSE.

NAME NEW OFFICERS

F. P. Starr is Elected Chairman, E. L.
Bingham Secretary and Jesse Earl, Treasurer.

Republicans representing practically every section of Rock county were at the court house this afternoon for a regular organization meeting. Frank Starr was re-elected to the office of county chairman, E. L. Bingham of Milton was made secretary and Jesse Earl was made treasurer. The names of the new officers were announced at a large vote at the November polls, the trend of the session being in favor of a progressive action in solving the casual voter to republicanism this fall.

Fred W. Gillman of Evansville was named as first district member of the executive committee and J. M. Breden of Beloit, was selected from the second district.

Members of the congressional committee from the first district, Edgerton and Milton, were also present. W. W.
Clarke of Milton, Nels Benson
and H. Van Patton, both of Beloit, are members from the second district.

Charles Sykes of this city and Sam
I. Curtis of Beloit were chosen as members of the state senatorial committee. Three county committees were also named. They are W. P. Marquardt of Milton, T. M. B. Gunn of the town of Rock and Charles Woodward of Beloit.

County Chairman F. P. Starr, in addressing the meeting of the Rock county republican committee, spoke in part as follows: "The republican party is the best interest of the republican party. We meet this afternoon to elect officers, committees and to transact such business as may be of the best interests of the republican party."

"We are living in the best county,
of the best state, of the grandest nation. The work of the republican party is to maintain the harmony and advance the best interests of the state and of the nation. We must have the best government in the world."

"The last record of a party is as important to consider as the past record of a man, as an indication as to what its future will be. The democratic party has been noted and useful only as an opposition party. When it has been successful in carrying out its policy, it has proved to be incompetent to manage the affairs of the government, in every case, and the present democratic administration is no exception to the rule."

"During Wilson's administration at the time of the breaking out of the European conflict many factories were either closed or running on short time, labor seeking employment at greatly reduced wages. The revenues of the government had been greatly reduced."

"While there are many issues in this campaign, I believe that the dominant issue is a protective tariff, equality of labor in the country in which it is produced and the cost of labor in this country, plus a fair profit. This is to encourage industries and protect the citizens of this country in their various employments."

"The candidates nominated by the republican party—national, state and county—are worthy of our enthusiastic support from the presidential nominee, Charles E.
Dixon, down to and including Dr.
Frank Ryan for county coroner."

LAKOTA CLUB ANNUAL EVENING AFTER XMAS

Decision Reached at Meeting Last Night—Matter of Orchestra
Is Still Open.

Members of the Lakota club at their regular meeting last night decided upon the matter of the club's annual annual dance party, the biggest affair of the social season for dancers of all ages. Assembled hall has already been engaged for the occasion.

Just what music will be engaged for the party has not been decided upon as yet. A number of the club members have been engaged to play for the orchestra and Chicago and other orchestras were suggested and Sec. William Sullivan was instructed to get in communication with the business managers of these various orchestras to determine just what they had to offer in the line of dance music.

President Roger Cunningham will appoint later a committee to work out final details and arrangements.
The social committee was instructed to prepare a report covering suggestions for either a hard Times or Hallowe'en. This is a private club affair for members and their lady friends and since it is accepted several years ago it is now looked upon as an annual affair.

The meeting instructed the house committee to see what could be done regarding the purchase of additional rooms in the building for club quarters.

Expense of Artists to Be Brought to
This City Requires Enlarged Membership.

The great expense to which the Apollo club has gone to provide a most exceptional series of concerts for the music-loving people of Janesof the club secured the services of sort of work and is well acquainted with all phases of the musical world.

SIDE TALKS

By—
RUTH CAMERON

A friend of mine has recently had an offer to give up her position in a library and go to live with a rich friend.

She told me about it because she knew I had a relative who once tried that same experiment, and she wanted me to write and ask that relative for advice.

This is the letter I received. I thought it might be of general interest.

Put the Position on a Business Basis. "DON'T. But if you do, put the position on a business basis. Make some definite time arrangement so that if you are not happy you can quit without a break. If you are both satisfied the agreement can be renewed."

"Try to have an understanding of what is expected of you—dusting, mending, marketing, answering letters, making out checks. Make up your mind to do enough so that you will feel that you are earning your board (but for your board you should not be expected to give up your whole time and you should stipulate an hour of your own."

You Don't Have to Go Everywhere They Go. "Talk things over and tell Mrs. M. that you do not intend to interfere with her liberty. If she and her husband are asked out to dinner, even by a mutual friend, it is not necessary that you should go too. If they give dinner parties you do not expect to be present at all of them. You understand that an extra woman is sometimes de trop. On the other hand, her house is your home and she should be willing to let you have your friends to meals occasionally. If you choose a convenient time and pay a stated sum for each guest according to the cost of extra food."

Be more careful of her money than of your own. Do not use more than your share of electric light and hot water. Do not monopolize the newspaper, the new magazines or the telephone.

Never Criticize the Servants or Correct The Children. "Make your own bed, dust your own room, never go into the kitchen or criticize the servants. Servants always resent the presence of a lady in a paid position. Be on time to meals. Do not ask for the auto if it is offered. Do not correct the children."

Do not allow Mr. M. to ask your opinion on business or other matters. Do not let him feel that you are the one woman who really appreciates and understands him. Ever if he and his wife have reached that point where a woman will tolerate the interference of another woman. Go to your room soon after dinner every night. Remember that there are things a husband and wife may want to talk over alone. Vanish at the shadow of a dispute. Do not allow personal confidences and do not take sides.

Do you think that you are equal to all this and that the position is preferable to the library and independence?"

Charles Holiday Ebbets has set aside October 2 as Rucker day, to commemorate Nap Rucker's completion of ten years of service as a Dougie pitcher. This is the nearest holiday that Colonel Ebbets ever declared. Rucker is very fond of Nap Rucker. It has been said to be fond and proud of him. He has added lustre to the game of baseball. He is a great pitcher and a fine type to men. Nap has not been coming to Rucker. Last season and this are the only years he has been with winning teams. Unfortunately his arm has been bad both seasons. Colonel Ebbets himself owes a big debt to Rucker. He was the only attraction the Dodgers had in the shadow years until Jake Daubert came. It is fit that that he should be honored in some way. Rucker day should be the high light of the Brooklyn season.

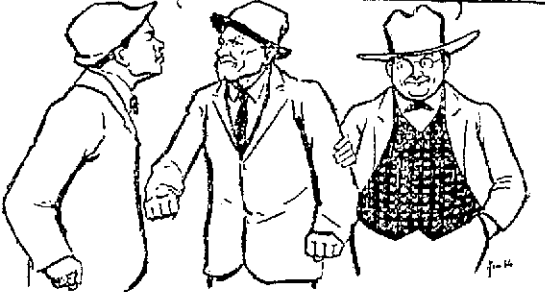

Buck Horner. "I will be remembered, say a $500 bonus, cash in hand."

THE GOOD JUDGE SETTLES A MISUNDERSTANDING.

"I'LL POKE ANY MAN IN THE JAW THAT SAYS W-B CUT IS NOT THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW."

"COME OFF—RIGHT-CUT IS THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW. SPOKE YOUR OWN JAW."

"WAIT, BOYS! YOU'RE BOTH RIGHT! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED, BUT RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED, BUT BOTH ARE THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW. NOW SHAKE HANDS."

YOU want to remember that the same fine stock is used in both W-B CUT and Right-Cut. The difference is that one is long shred and the other is short shred, both seasoned with a bit of salt. You will know real tobacco satisfaction when you cut out the old kind and take up either one of the Real Tobacco Chew twins. A little chew lasts and satisfies.

Dr. Edward Gudeman in an address before the Chicago Chapter of the American Society of Chemists said: "Beer and Milk are affinities. Both are produced from similar raw materials. Has beer a food value? I don't think anyone will deny it has a great food value, nearly equal to that of milk. It is a food, a condiment, a stimulant and sometimes a delicacy."

The Triangular label on all BLATZ Beer is a guarantee of uniform purity and flavor.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

Here is what Rev. Francis J. Flinn, of Cincinnati, the most famous Catholic writer of boy's stories, thinks of the movies. In an interview recently, he said:

"The movies for some time past seem to have been sowing their wild oats. Money with the promoters has become a drug; they didn't know what to do with it, so they bought up everything in sight."

"Brains were not always in sight, nor was with much trained to good taste and right ethics. As a result there was put upon the market many pictures which seemed to have been made in a country where there were no ten commandments."

"The movies, to put it in another light, developed into an overgrown boy, rich in vulgarity and given, when occasion presented itself to running amuck."

"All the same, I do not think we have so far dealt aright with this overgrown heir of the moving picture wealth. He needed chastisement, and he got it. But he needed advice and encouragement and we failed to give it in due measure."

"The moving picture business, however, is far from being all bad. It is coming out every day which are educational, idyllic, beautiful, imaginative, clean and—pardon the word—uplifting."

"What is needed just now is a campaign, not of condemnation, but of education. Producers must be told when they are doing good work, and why. These men may not be profound moralists, but they are good fellows and they can be through a mill stone, if that is a hole in it."

DEVELOP LAND BY FILM. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, meeting at Escanaba, Mich., recently voted to use motion pictures in presenting the agricultural possibilities of the Michigan region known as "clover land." The bureau is to purchase a motion picture camera to make scenes of agricultural, historical, industrial, summer resort and other possibilities of the section.

It is expected that 15,000 feet of film will be taken and that when this is shown, a lecturer to explain the pictures will be present at each showing. A three-reel drama and a comedy will complete the entertainment. A special car, designed as a rolling picture theater, will be built in order that the pictures may be shown in communities not boasting a regular theater. This car, according to present plans, will be taken all over the United States.

"The baddest bad-man" ever seen on the screen is the way Monte M. Katterjohn speaks of the role he has created for William S. Hart, which is shortly to be filmed. It is said to be of the type of "Hell's Hinges," which was written by C. Gardner Sullivan.

Charming Blanche Sweet, supported by Theodore Roberts and Thomas Meighan will play in a new feature, "The Storm" to be released October 5. The picture promises a treat, as it was photographed in the beautiful mountains of California.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 3, 1876.—The wind is still on the rampage.

Coal is going down—in the cellars. The members of the Engine Company No. 2, and their friends are frolicking around Crystal Springs this afternoon.

The sprinkling car met with a mishap this afternoon while in the river. The box became detached from the fore wheels and the horses went one by one, the car being pulled out by other. The floating detachment was soon recovered.

The saddlery hardware store of Hayner and Bliss Co., was entered last night, but the company have no idea what amount of goods was taken. A large pane of glass in one of the rear windows was cut out by which entrance to the store was effected. About midnight four suspicious persons were seen wandering about in the neighborhood of the Corn Exchange and the presumption is that these are the parties who committed the burglary.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Russia and the United States have concluded a treaty by which the former concedes to the latter the ports of Okhotsk, etc. Belgrade, Oct. 3.—The Serbian war minister has ordered the purchase of 25,000 Chassepot rifles.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson.
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married less than a year and already I feel that I am losing my husband's love. He used to tell me about his work and everything he was doing before we were married and now he doesn't tell me anything. When his father and mother come to our house he talks to them about things they understand and that he has something to tell me at all. He has told me I am stupid and not to be silly. It hurts very much and I don't know what to do. I can't bear to have my husband stop loving me. He used to stay at home every evening and now he often goes over to his mother's and doesn't ask me to go along. I am not a very good cook and he knew it before he married me. But now when I spoil things he makes sarcastic remarks. He says I know of the five things he makes my husband love me as he used to and enjoy staying with me instead of his mother and father?

UNHAPPY WIFE. You will have to gain your husband's respect by proving to him that you are capable and not stupid. Take lessons in cooking and by effort and practice learn to cook. You can be a good wife. Also be quick to appreciate what your husband is saying. Listen intelligently. When he seems to want you to laugh be obliging and laugh. And when he is serious respond to him with seriousness. Probably you intended to what he had to say far more attentively before marriage than you do now. Don't let him know that effort you are making to please him. If he thinks it is natural and spontaneous he probably will be more pleased.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-two years old. My mother died when I was nineteen and I have kept house for my father and three little sisters ever since. I have a sister nineteen years old who works away from home. I also have a sister fifteen years old and one of thirteen. My father's oldest sister is very hard to manage. She is pretty and very popular with the boys. I think she is too young to go with boys and so I have forbidden her doing so. She will not mind me and lies and deceives me. I cannot even let her go to a girl friend's in the evening, because when I give her permission she is likely to go off with a certain boy. He is very young, too, and I know nothing against him, but I don't like the idea of my little sister having a man when she is a fifteen years old. What would you advise me to do?

WOMANLY SISTER. Tell your little sister that since she is determined to go with the boy you are going to let her. Give her permission to entertain him at home. You must gain her confidence and put a stop to her lies and deceit. Do your part to make entertaining at home easy and pleasant. Make candy sometimes or serve popcorn and cider.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-two years old and in love with a girl of eighteen. She doesn't seem to care anything for me except as a playmate. When I tell her I love her she lives I promised to write, but never did. Would you write or not? She is the first and only girl I ever fell in love with and I like her for a wife. What would you advise me to do?

PRIVATE P. K. S. Write to her. She may like you better than you think. You are not too late to get married when you are only twenty. Probably by the time you are twenty-five you will have loved several girls.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly inform me if it is proper for a young lady to hold a boy's arm when out walking? R. A. S. It is to take a young man's arm, and still in certain parts of the south the custom prevails. But in recent years it has been more common for the young lady to take the girl's arm and slip her across the street or rough places, or guide her through a crowd.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM GRADY, M. D.

THE MILK DIVISION FOR THE OBSE.

After prolonged mediation the board of directors of the Bread and Milk Club wished to announce the organization of the Milk Division for obese members. Heretofore only good members have been admitted into the club and milk, but so many fat ones have clamored for admission that the board concluded to establish the Milk Division for their special benefit. Members of the Milk Division will have two days a week of milk diet, as follows: A pint for breakfast, a glass at 10 a. m., a pint at noon, another glass at 4 p. m., and a pint at 7 p. m. The milk to be taken cold or warm, as desired, and up to a pint of water may be added.

Thirst and hunger are thus both appeased, while the weight declines rapidly. A pound a day must be lost in order to maintain standing in the Division. As much as two or three pounds a day may be lost by some members.

It is the intention of the board, later on, to create a higher degree in which members of the Milk Division may be graduated on presentation of fitness for the honor. In the higher degree three or four days a week of rigid milk diet will be required.

While the Bread and Milk Club is in a thriving condition, having now spread of eight thousand members, it is doing as well as expected. There is just one point about which some confusion is evident, namely, how much milk and how much bread is allowable on Monday. The chair prescribes a glass of milk or three ounces of milk, and two or three loaves of bread rising to bed-time, and with each glass of milk a cracker or half a slice of bread without butter. With the Bread and Milk Club rid- ing the world of biliousness, gas, flatulents, that tired feeling, dyspepsia and the other digestive maladies of the overfed, the Milk Division cleans up skin diseases due to auto-intoxication and the Milk Division assuaging the distress of the obese, the monitor of this department looks forward to a day when the militia will have been decimated and says: "I guess there isn't much sickness any more."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Enlarged Pores.

Please tell me what causes enlarged pores. I use good soap, good powder and a well recommended cold cream, still my pores seem very large.

ANSWER.—Stop the powder, and cold cream they simply add debris and tend to close the pores. Use plain soap, but little of it, and rinse it from the skin very thoroughly with warm water, always finishing the bath with cold water. "Astringent" pores are clogged with dead cells, young blackheads, moderate softness, cold bathing, avoidance of war paint and alleged "rice creams," and deep breathing and walking, or other open air exercise will correct the trouble.

Stammering. I've been stammering a little over a year now, and would like nothing better than to rid myself of it.

ANSWER.—Take vocal lessons.

Serve Krumbles with cream, milk (cold or hot), or fruit juice. It is delicious with sliced bananas or peaches.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Heavy Blankets.—Many housewives find difficulty in handling heavy woolen double blankets when airing and laundering them. By sewing snap fasteners on the bottom, after cutting them in two and binding the ends, they serve the same purpose with much less work.

Towelings Tablecloths.—Take three strips of linen crash towelings (plaid or bordered, bleached or unbleached), as long as desired. Over and over stitch the edges together with a stout thread, rather loose, but shallow stitch. Hem the ends. This tablecloth will long outwear table linen of the same cost and is much easier to launder. Compare with ordinary tablecloths. More elegant, more agreeable to the touch in cold weather and is more likely to encourage careful habits at the table, both in children and grown-ups.

THE TABLE.

German Apple Cake.—One tablespoon butter, one tablespoon sugar, one egg, one cup milk, two tablespoons baking powder, enough flour to mix stiffer than a cake. Slice apples and put on top with bits of butter and sugar. Bake in cake tin. Will make six slices.

Pineapple Cream Pie (fine).—Take one pineapple and grate it fine; add one and one-half cups white sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, stir well, then add yolks of three well-beaten eggs, two cups water and a piece of butter size of walnut. Cook in double boiler until it thickens. When cool, fill in a pan lined with pastry and bake. When done, have the whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth with three tablespoons powdered sugar. Spread this over the top, return to oven and bake a light brown. Will make two pies.

Dressing.—Soak in cold water one small loaf hard bread; squeeze out all water. Have ready same amount of cold mashed potatoes to which add cold crumbs. Chop six onions fine, let them fry through (not brown), then add, with tablespoon allspice, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well with the hands as you would work dough. Add a fine dressing for veal or chicken.

Oatmeal Bread (healthful and nourishing).—Two cups oatmeal (old-fashioned kind), one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon lard, one teaspoon salt. Put together in dish and pour over three cups of boiling water. Let stand till cool, then stir in one dissolved yeast cake; add white flour to make large loaf and knead till smooth; divide, put in two bread tins, let rise. Bake in moderate oven one hour.

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

Ginger Peas.—One-half pound green peas scraped and chopped, juice and shredded peel of four oranges and three lemons, eight pounds sugar, eight pounds water, eight pounds peas weighed after paring and coring. Cook ginger, orange and lemon peel with a pint of water till tender. Then add the sugar, orange and lemon juice. Cook till sugar is dissolved; put in the peas chopped coarsely and cook very slowly for two hours. You may use food chopped with coarse knife.

Peach German Sauce.—Five pounds sugar, twelve pounds peaches, one pint vinegar. Pare peaches and cook thick like butter.

Cucumber Sauce.—Six large cucumbers chopped without peeling, one quart onions chopped. Put all layers of cucumbers and onions in a heavy weight on it over night. In the morning drain all juice off. Scald in good cider vinegar enough to cover. Add six red sweet peppers, chopped fine, one teaspoon mustard seed, one teaspoon celery seed, stirring thoroughly; then add in the following dressing: One cup oil, one cup butter, one-third cup sugar, add one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mustard, two well beaten eggs. Stir it all into one-half pint hot vinegar. Allow the dressing to come to boiling point until it thickens, then add one-half cup sweet or sour cream. When mixed with above it is then ready to be put into jars.

Mixed Sweet Pickles.—Four heads cauliflower, one peck green tomatoes, one dozen large cucumbers, one-half dozen sweet peppers (red), one-half dozen sweet peppers (green), one quart small white onions. Cut all these in small pieces and let stand in brine over night; also put in brine 100 small cucumbers. Next morning drain off brine and wash by cold water and drain. Add six bunches of celery, cut into small pieces. (Don't put celery in brine.)

Dressing.—Six quarts sugar, five gallons water, seven pounds brown sugar, five cents' worth of turmeric, five cents' worth white mustard seed, three cups flour, one tablespoon stick cinnamon (broken up). Let sugar, vinegar and spices come to a boil, then add vegetables and boil one-half hour. Then add turmeric, ground mustard and flour, cook five minutes longer, bottle with cork. This will make about fifteen quarts.

Apple Catsup.—Quarter, core and cook enough apples to make one quart when run through a sieve; add one teaspoon each of pepper and cloves, two teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoon mustard, one tablespoon salt, one pint vinegar (two cups if you omit the onions if not liked). Boil slowly one hour and can or bottle.

GINGLES' JINGLES

DAD'S ADVICE.

Said Dad to me some years ago, when we were only squab. "If you'll stack up the way you should you'll always have a job. You'll always have a place to hang your derby called your own, a place where you will reign supreme, a private little throne, a camping ground where you can sit and in contentment say, this joint is mine. I'm monarch here. Of all that I survey." And so I took my dad's advice. I worked and drugged and saved. I pinched the eagles 'till they screamed, I labored and I saved, and with this hoarded lucre, this hard earned elusive coin, I bought a classy bungalow, in wedlock then did join. And now I find that Dad's advice is bunk from A to Z. I am not monarch in that bungalow—not me, I hardly dare to open my bazoo to say a word, I'm mostly nix and minus since I bird.

Training a Husband

Morris Discovers That the Daily Household Grind Isn't So Pleasant After All.

"Now you lie still and have a fine rest today. I'll fix the baby's bottle, then come and get him. Morris Southy hurried out of the room. It had been arranged that Marian was to take the rest cure by staying in bed all day. Morris was at home to attend to the children. Marian sat up in bed and made the baby comfortable. If they can get along it will be a great privilege to rest to-day. She thought as she lay down again. "I cannot remember when I did not get up to get breakfast unless I was sick," she mused. Freshened up, she called to her maid and carried the baby off and Marian sank back on the pillow. She was very sleepy. Just as she was losing consciousness a loud wail rose from the baby. Marian sat up; all signs of sleep had vanished.

"I wish they would bring him to me," she thought anxiously. "Something is wrong with him. Perhaps he ate too fast and has a little colic. No one knows what to do for that but me." She stood the crying as long as she could and then opened the door.

"Morris, bring him to me. I can quiet him," she called. "You stay in bed," answered her husband. "A little crying will not hurt him. Go to sleep." "I don't feel like sleeping. Let me have him in here and then you can get the breakfast."

"Go back to bed. You can get no good out of this if you are to keep running to the door every time baby cries," Morris' tone was impatient. Marian crept into bed, but the crying increased and after a long time had elapsed she again went to the door.

"Morris, I shall get so nervous that I can't sleep all day. Bring the baby to me. He will soon go to sleep and then I can get on with my work." Marian was becoming discouraged and capitulated, bringing the baby to her and going on to the kitchen. The baby curled up beside her and ceased crying. She heard the confused noises of the children running back and forth and was again getting sleepy when she saw a little sob on the outside of her door.

"I will tell mother," shouted little Frank. "She always let me have it. Here come away from there. A fine rest your mother will have if you go crying around like this." It was Morris taking a hand. Marian sighed.

"Things never run smoothly when he tries to manage the children," Marian, tense with anxiety, was straining every nerve to learn the outcome of the trouble. Finally silence had settled on the household; then the crash of china told her that Morris was washing dishes.

"I do hope he will live enough to get the table with. I am so short of dishes." The knob of the door turned and Florence said: "Father said I could come in and let you see my hair ribbon. Nobody can do it right." The little maid smiled up into her mother's face.

"Who put your dress on?" "It is hind side before," laughed the mother. "Why father did. Oh, that's the way it goes. I thought it didn't feel right." "Now my little girl is ready for Sunday school," Marian kissed her.

"Here comes Roger," she then breakfast. She then opened the door for him to enter. Marian praised the lukewarm coffee and hard toast that the little fellow had prepared with.

AN OLD FURNITURE SECRET

How A Famous Furniture House Cleans and Beautifies Fine Pieces

The old established house of Tobey (Chicago & New York), makers of fine furniture, uses a secret shop formula for cleaning and beautifying the rich finishes of all furniture they make. This formula is now offered to the world in the form of Tobey Polish. Already it is being used in the finer homes throughout the country. It restores the original finish by removing all dirt and blemishes. Cleans off dirt and grease much more easily than soap and water. Wipes off dry. Leaves no oily film or veneer. Does not dry or crack the finest finish, but renews the elasticity of the varnish.

Further advantages are the ease and speed with which it works. Results are instantaneous. No hard work, no hard rubbing. After the furniture and woodwork have been cleaned with Tobey Polish, a little used on the dust cloth will keep everything looking new from day to day. Try it on any article of furniture from a chair to a piano. There is nothing like it for cleaning and preserving the finish of automobile bodies. Gives a beautiful polish that will not collect dust.

Don't wash fine varnished surfaces. Don't use "polishes" that shine today and mar tomorrow. Try Tobey Polish—the same old secret formula used by a famous furniture house. Bottles 25c and 50c; quart jugs, $1.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Capetown, S. A., Oct. 3.—"I will never shoot at birds," again, I know their feelings now," wrote Second Lieutenant McCubbin, the boy who brought down Immelmann, to his father in Capetown. "It is a weird sensation. You hear a buzz, then you see a puff of smoke or different colors and hear shrill whistling by. If you don't alter your course every few seconds you get killed." McCubbin is in a London hospital recovering from wounds. He is not quite 19 years.
